Upon De Young,

With a View to Injuring His Chances for the Senate.

Stanford Working to Secure the Prize for Hon, M. M. Estee.

Not to Make a Money Fight-The Press on the Watch for Corrupt Bargains.

By Telegraph to The Times. SACRAMENTO, March 4.-[Special.] Today every department of the Government received, through the mail, a circular written by a scavenger, which was intended to injure Mr. De Young's candidacy for the Senate. The document was so contemptible that no one thought of it except with the wish that its author might be discovered and sent to the penitentiary, as he richly deserves to be. As the document was printed, it will take some time to discover its author, but the postal authorities have the matter in Estee returned to his home last night but left a representative in the person of S. T. Gage, who is quartered in room 11 of the Depot Hotel. There has been a notion abroad, which grew out of President C. P. Huntington's repeated orders and declarations, that the road company is not in politics; that employés of the company of which Mr. Gage is one would not be permitted to take a hand in this Senatorial contest.

Nevertheless Gage is actively at here all the same. It be understood, however, he does not represent the must railway company in this matter, but Mr. Stanford personally. In short, Estee is Stanford's candidate and is being pushed by Dragoman Gage, whereas the railroad company itself, if it is for anybody, is not for Mr. Stanford's candidate. There is good authority for the statement that Mr. Huntington's choice is not Mr. Estee.

De Young, according to the Chronicle of this morning, will not enter into a money contest for the Senatorship, but would refuse the place if it to the Assembly. had to be bought. The continued scandal about the expected use of money in this fight is attracting more and more attention and the plain warnings on the part of several leading journals—the Examiner, the Call, the Bulletin, the Post and the Chronicle of San Francisco, and the Record Union of Sacramento are having the effect of causing alarm in the ranks of the purchasable element in the Legislature. It is becoming every day more apparent that a money fight cannot be made without the certainty of exposure and punishment, and a greater scandal than has ever yet disgraced the State in connection with a Senatoral election.

Salisbury Thinks the Eight-Hour Law Tends to Socialism.

London, March 4.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] At a banquet at the Chamber of Commerce tonight the Chamber of Commerce tonight Lord Salisbury said that hostile tariffs and an excess of protection feeling were the only clouds on the bright outlook for commerce. In America, however, ultra protection had been changed by the people in the last election. Reverting to the labor question, he said the eight-hour proposal attacked a vital principal of individual liberty. Parliament had no right no party to legislation to tie individual effort or cramp the freedom of trades. If the eight-hour day were conceded to miners it would be impossible to withhold it from other trades, and once we pass the Rubicon separating us from the domain of socialism, our commercial and industrial supremacy would be lost and difficult to recapture.

In its financial article the Times declines to believe that there is any serious danger of important failures.
The Standard is more pessimistic.
It fears that "undertakers will be

A PECULIAR CASE.

The President of a Suspended Bank

McPherson, (Mo.,) March 4.—By the Associated Press.] The mystery surrounding the shooting of C. A. Heeglund, president of the Second National Bank, which suspended on National Bank, which suspended on Monday, has been partially cleared up. The wounded man recovered consciousness for the first time today. He says he started for Kansas City on Sunday night on the night train on business, but at Harrington stayed too long at the funch counter and missed the train. He came back to McPherson on the morning train and as he was walking home about 5 o'clock some one came

GREAT DAMAGE IN THE VICINITY OF PHŒNIX, ARIZ,

The City Cut Off From Rallroad Communication-A Break in a Sacramento Levee Causes Havoc.

By Telegraph to The Times PHOENIX, (Ariz.,) March 4.- [By the Associated Press. The floods which have menaced Arizona for several weeks are now abating, and there is no prospect for any additional rainfall. Telegraphic communication from this city was only restored yesterday. Phoenix will be cut off from railroad communication for several months, the bridge of the Maricopa and Phoenix Railroad being washed out across Salt River, and the bridge across the Gila rendered useless by the change in the iver channel. The Phonix and Salt River Valley were but little injured by the flood. A number of adobe houses of slight value were destroyed. The iamage was to the railroad company and canals. Many small farms were destroyed. The Hasagampa is higher than during the time the Walnut Grove dam broke last year. The only lives known to have been lost during the fleod in this vicinity were those of several Pima Indians.

John Kennedy, one of the heaviest stock-owners of the Territory, lost his life yesterday fording the Verde River

AT ENSENADA.

SAN DIEGO, March 4.—The steamer Manuel Dublan arrived this morning from Ensenada, Lower California, and passengers report that a great deal of damage was done there by the late storms. The soap factory is a total wreck, having been undermined and turned upside down. Considerable damage was done to the woolen mills, and a large building in course of construction for a fish cannery was totally destroyed. The soap factory is to be rebuilt on higher ground.

A wheatfield of 100 acres belonging to the International Company was delphia, two students at the Hebrew Union College in this city, were found dead in their room this morning. The young men took their own lives acording to a preconcerted arrangement.

It is asserted by fellow students that the young men must have been demented on the subject of hypnotism.

Salinger for a long time had firm believer—in it. Frauenthal formerly scoffed at it, but latterly Salinger had won him over and seemed to have complete control over him.

For some time past Frauenthal has been falling off, mentally and physically, and he frequently complained of the past of the pas ically, and he frequently complained of pains in his head. They left a joint note asking that their families be notified, but vouchsafing no explanation. Salinger was still alive when found, and said before expiring that they had agreed to die together. His diary had an entry saying that he was going to end his never ceasing pain.

THE SEWERS.

The Sewer Committee will present a report to the Council on Monday next, in which the condition of the central intersection of the ceptor, as developed by the investigation of the ceptor, as developed by the investigation of the ceptor, as developed by the investigation of treatment of the work, as the condition of the work, so for as examined, is not satisfactory. Mr. Dockweller stated yesterday that it could not be definitely stated just how defective the sewer is, but if that which is covered up and out of sight is as bad in proportion as certain spots tested by him, it is "rocky." A careful and systematic examination will, however, be made, and its only a question of time when everything will come out.

Mr. Dockweller says he does not wish to be understood as reflecting in any sense on his predecessor. Mr. Eaton, who, he thinks, was deceived in some respects, and trusted too much to his inspectors. He says that he wants merely to get at the truth in the whole matter, nothing more, and is making no particular war on kny one.

from day to day in official circles, and generally causes a pretty breezy discussion. In Mayor Hizzard's office yesterday afternoon, after the adjournment of the Police Commission, the matter came up, and His Ilanor expressed himself in pretty vigorous English. The Mayor said he was surprised that the Council had taken no action on a matter involving several thousand dollars, in which the city was interested. As for himself, he was in favor of getting a safe, counting the money to see that it was intact, and then locking it up in the treasury if there were no extraneous influences at work. Councilman Nickell was present but said little, and the Mayor held the floor until he had fully declared himself, when the gentlemen filed out of the office.

WILL RESIGN.

Police Commissioner Collins's resignation is in the hands of the councilman from his ward, and will be presented to the Council on Monday next. Mr. Collins said that the resignation had been written for three weeks, but he had been holding on for the accommodation of some of his party associates. He said he was tired of holding an honorary position, and that as he wanted to do business with the city, which he could not do while a commissioner, he had concluded to resign. He never intended to remain on the board during the coming year, so this was nothing new.

STREET IMPROVEMENT BONDS.

Much interest is being feit in the bill now before the Legislature providing for the issuance of bonds for street improvement. Issuance of bonds for street improvement. The measure has been endorsed by the Council and citizens, and extensive improvement are in contemplation should the bill become a law. President Bonsail of the Council yesterday received the following dispatch from Senator Carpenter:

"There need be no uneasiness about the improvement bonds being considered, and I hope passed, in the Senate tomorrow."

had long been suspected that by means of an apparatus specially constructed, the officers of the company were committing frauds upon the revenue service.

upon the revenue service.

Finally positive and convincing evidences of the fraud were obtained. The secretacy of the company, W. More Young, was arrested and the property of the Fruitvale Wine and Fruit Company was placed in the hands of Government officials.

W. More Young was tried and convicted of defrauding the revenue. He was sentenced to a year's imprisonment. His term has been up for some time.

The Government is now seeking to receive $5000 on the bond the company furnished as a surety that in their operations they would comply with the law.

The trial of the case commenced yesterday before Judge Ross and a jury. It was not concluded, however. It will last all of today.

A Time When Passengers Had Their Guns.

THE CAJON PASS IS OPEN.

The Railroads Getting Into Shape-Orange Shipments Beginning-A Railroad Deal-Some General Mention.

Contemporaneous history has shown that in every instance where a train has been stopped by robbers there has been a great scaletty of shooting-irons among the passengers. In fact, in most instances it was discovered after the robbers had departed, that nobody on the train had a revolver—or at any rate was willing to admit he had.

This is not absolute proof that travelers make a practice of going through the wild This is not absolute proof that travelers make a practice of going through the wild and woully East or the peaceable West with such a feeling of security that they consider small arms unnecessary. Only the other day, a maniac who in sudden frenzy had shot two fellow passengers and then jumped from the moving train, found himself surrounded on the sandy desert by a crowd of passengers all with revolvers in their hands. The poor junatic having vented his frenzy upon the two victims, turned his murderous hand upon himself and sisshed his throat; but nearly every passenger had found a gun to use in case the demented man should again run amuck. Thus it seems that when train robbers have the drop on a carload of passengers, the latter find that their guns are either at hothe or in their trunks, but when the passengers can get the drop on a fieeing crazy man, they produce an array of small arms sufficient, if used properly, to defend any trainload of treasure from covetous looters.

Rev. Fleming, it is said, is a bright young man who has been prominently identified with church work in this vicinity. He superintended the erection of the Chautauqua buildings at Redondo Beach. In fact the success of the whole undertaking was ascribed to Mr. Fleming. When the large amphitheater was dedicated he was the central figure of the occasion.

After the Chautauqua buildings at Redondo Beach were completed Mr. Fleming moved to South Pasadena, where he now resides. He has been carrying on the church work at Monte Vista and has won golden opinions and high enconiums for his brilliant sermons, his tircless industry and his attractive appearance.

brilliant sermons, his tircless industry and his attractive appearance.

A certain Mr. Winans advanced $6000 to complete the Chautauqua buildings. He was secured in the loan by lots and collaterals owned by the society. Funds for the repayment of the $6000 have been diverted, and it is claimed that Mr. Fleming has misapproprised them. The accused denies the charges and the whole affair has created quite a sensation in religious circles. Mr. Fleming's friends are very loath to believe him guilty.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Prohibition conference in Temperance Temple yesterday was a success in more ways than one. The number present proves that the Sunday-closing law, which was adopted in this city a few months ago, has given the temperance advocates confidence in themselves, and the speeches that were made proves that the leaders have more faith in their ultimate success than the year had before.

The main object of the convention was to discuss the prospects of Prohibition throughout the State, and the speakers who have traveled over the State during the past few months declare that their cause is gaining strength rapidly at present, and they predict great things at the next election.

Speeches were made by A. G. Sheaban of San Francisco, Hon. S. D. Hestings of Madison, Wis.; F. M. Porter, Will D. Gould, Lyman Allen, Miss Emma Harriman, Rev. Dr. Hough, A. F. M. Strong, Rev. C. B. the following piece of gossip:

areas of land will increase the rainfall in Southern California, the statement being supported by allusion to the fact that such has been the case in Kansas and other portions of the great treeless prairies of the West. At first plance, the prediction seems plausible. There are, however, factors in the climate of the Pacific Coast region, which render any preceptible change from such causes, extremely doubtful.

Rainstorms may be said to be of two classes local and general. The snmmer rains of the inland prairies are mostly of the former character.

Cultivation of the soil enables it to absorb the moisture from the general winter storms, and trees help to re tain it by warding off the heat of the sun during the spring months. As summer approaches the weather gradually becomes warmer until excessive evaporation begins, even in the shade. and there being no regular winds in these inland regions to carry away the vapor, it piles up, unseen, in the atmosphere, like smoke from a great fire on a still day, until a current of cold air strikes it and precipitates it in almost the same locality from which it rose. This is proven by the fact that summer showers are often seen to start at some point on a timber-bor-dered stream and to follow its course for many miles, while the uplands near by are left perfectly dry. Two Two simple rainstorms sometimes follow two neighboring streams to their junction, and, combining, form a veritable storm trust," a tornado, as Kansas City, at the confluence of the Missouri and Kaw rivers knows to her sorrow. Only the winter storms of these inland sections can be said to be general in

Along the Pacific Coast we find the climatic conditions entirely different. Back of the Coast ranges of mountains lies a vast expanse of country which is practically desert-thousands of square iles of sandy or gravelly plains, and of hills and mountains covered only by a scanty growth of brush. During the long summer the sun beats upon this barren waste with tropical fervor. The hot air rushes upward, a partia vacuum is created, and the cooler air from the ocean is drawn in to fill it hence the sea breeze, which blows with such agreeable regularity across the coast section throughout the entire nummer. There is abundant moisture in this breeze, but passing so rapidly over the heated earth it has no opportunity to collect in masses, and in crossing the coast region comes in contact with no currents of air cold enough to precipitate it. Occasionally this moisture-laden breeze encounter a cold wave from the Rocky Mountain district, the result being the heavy thunderstorms which occur in Arizona and the territory lying east of the Sierra Nevada range. Three things are necessary to pro duce rainfall. 1. A sufficient quantity of water in nature's storage reservoirs. 2. Heat, to cause evaporation 3. Cold, to cause precipitation. A moment's reflection must convince us that increased cultivation and tree planting can effect only the first-named Were all the tillable land west of the Sierra Nevadas under cultivation it is safe to say that its capacity to retain storm-water would not be in creased more than ten per cent. If the evaporation which place on the vast Pacific Ocean does not give us rain in the summer-time, is it reasonable to suppose that this triffing increase in the storage capacity of the region would produce any change

TREES AND RAINFALL IN CALIFORNIA.

The assertion is frequently made that the planting of larger numbers of trees and the cultivation of larger areas of land will jucrease the raincultivation and valuable chiefly for its timber (or stone.)

Nearly all the timbered lands of Southern California lie above the snow line, and the influence of the timber in these higher altitudes, upon the streams that go out from the mountains, cannot be overestimated. If the timber is cut, burned or otherwise destroyed, the snow is thereby fully exposed to the sun, and rapidly melts, causing spring freshets in the streams. Where the timber remains in its primeval state the snow melts so slowly that the water has time to sink into the seams and crevices of the rocky heights, from whence it gradually finds its way, later in the season, to the springs and sub-terranean channels which feed the streams and artesian wells. The timber on the mountains of this State, and of every region where irrigation is necessary, should be preserved and protected by law, because of its tendency to diminish the flow of water in the spring and to increase it at the time when needed to bring forth the apples of gold which are to take the place of the "dust" of the 49ers in perpetuating the golden romance of oriental California

OUR DEFECTIVE SEWER.

During the past few months there have been several statements made to the effect that the expensive interior sewer system which is now approaching completion was faultily constructed and rotten. Little importance was attached to these statements, but they are now in a measure confirmed by City Engineer Dockweiler, who shows that, in many places which are easily approachable-and in how many other places robody knows-the sewer has been built in a most unconscionably slovenly manner, sand and loose bricks frequently taking the place of solid

It is a most disgusting and irritating fact that a majority of public improvements, constructed with the hardearned money of taxpayers, should be imperfect and rotten. Sewers con-structed in this manuer are certainly far worse than none at all. The filth will lodge in crevices and breed disease. The contractor who is responsible for this work has not yet completed his job. Let him be held to strict accountability to the city for the imperfections which have been found and those which may yet be discovered. The public is growing awfully weary of this continued tale of executive imbecility and contractive corruption.

A CORRESPONDENT writes as follows from Cincinnati to the Santa

Clara Register:

California dried peaches are now rating at 40 cents a pound in Cinciunati, and scarce at that figure. Other fruits are about the same; but this high price is owing to the fact that but little fruit of any kind was grown last year. There is a grand opening here for enterprising fruit men to open a house for the sale of your fruits. Such a house could build up a fine trade; but your present methods of shipping canned and dried fruits in larke quantities, to be forced on the market will ordinarily prove disastrous to the snipper.

o achieve distinction on the stage.

Mr. Herman's "Buckingham" showed a marked, improvement since his last visit here. His delivery of the celebrated speech on his way to execution was marked by ability of a very pronounced kind, and obtained, as it deserved, a warm recognition from the audience. Mr. Turner's "Henry" was excellent from the picturesque point of view. In costume, makeup and figure he was a reproduction of the historical picture of the much-married monarch. He tried, also, to give the manner of the biuff King Hal, but failed to invest the character with royal dignity where it was required, and his delivery of his lines chopped into small lengths furnished a curlosity in the art of elecution not often met with. Miss Coggswell as "Anne Boleyn" has so little to do that the audience could only see that she was a very pretty young lady with a graceful carriage and a sweet voice. In future pays she will have more opportunity to show her abilities as an actress.

sweet voice. In future pays she will have more opportunity to show her abilities as an actress.

Mr. Warde's "Wolsey" was well studied and artistic personation. In appearance he resembled Samuel Phelps in make-up, and was farthest away from Charles Kean. He portrayed the arrogance, the cuming and sensuality of the character with great skill. His by-play in the trial scene was excellent, and in the great scene with "Surrey" and the courtiers he showed his strength with great skill. His by-play in the trial scene was excellent, and in the great scene with "Surrey" and the courtiers he showed his strength with great effect. It might, perhaps, be objected that his physical force in this interview was inconsistent with his immediate and complete breakdown a few minutes after, when, trembling, tearful and exhausted he is helped off the stage. But Mr. Warde's robust characteristics and virile force are part of his every personation, they are the qualities that enable him to maintain his hold on the people, and the little excesses in this direction, in which he sometimes indulges, make his audience like him the more. After his "fareweil" speech and the fall of the curtain he was twice recalled, and took the opportunity to say a rew words to the audience in recognition of the kind encouragement given to himself, to Mrs. Bowers and the company. It was a felicitous little speech and was cheered to the echo.

A good many stories, and true ones, too, could be told about the early experiences of George Hearst, the deeased Senator. One of the old resi dents of Los Angeles relates this, and ouches for its truth: Away back in the palmy days of gold digging, Hearst and a rew companions were one day out on a prospecting tour, when they sighted a party of Indians in the dis-tance, and surmising them to be hostile tance, and surmising them to be hostile they naturally wanted to get away from there. All the men except Hearst were mounted on horses. He on his mule found himself being left far in the rear, for his animal refused to move off a jog. It began to look serious when Hearst called to his fleeing companions:

The Long Session Closed with a Burst of Song.
Washington, March 4.—|By the Associated Press. | The House of Representatives of the Fifty-first Congress went out in a burst of song. The effect was fine, as was the singing of "John Brown's body," taken up immediately after. The occupants of the press gallery for the last numbers on the programme rendered "Good-bye Congress," "Good-bye, my lover, good-bye," and "He's a jolly good fellow," and it was with regret on the part of the immense throng on the floor and in the galleries that the impromptu musicale came to an end.

Cannon Complimented by the Dem ocrats-Stormy Times in the House-The Senate as Dignified as Ever.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, March 4.-[By the Associated Press.] When the 4th of March broke upon the Capitol the corridors were almost deserted, and the galleries of both houses were well nigh tenantless. The Senate had taken a recess just before daylight until 9 o'clock, and the hall of the House was the scene of litter and confusion. There was an unusually large attendance of members, but it was also an unusually disorderly assembly. The Speaker appeared to be the most serene person in the vast hall. Certain Representatives tilted themselves in their chairs or threw them-selves upon ample lounges and were more or less advanced toward sound slumbers. The sharp voice of the Speaker rang out as clearly as ever, calling for order and in remonstrance with the unruly members who sought to indulge in "horseplay." As the day grew, signs of life outside the hall of the House multiplied. Members who had stolen off for the night to their homes began to drop in quietly. The Senate doors were reopened, and a large class of people who take interest in Congressional death-struggles began to flock to the Capitol, and to seat themselves in the galleries, and the last day of the session was fairly begun.

question. The report says: question. The report says:

The number of Chinese in the country is decreasing on account of the exclusion act, although not as rapidly as the committee deems desirable, this being due to the difficulty in enforcing the law. It is recommended that two steam launches be secured for use on Puget Sound to prevent Chinese immigration by way of British Columbia and the supposed smuggling.

The report deals at length with the well-knewn fraudulent methods by which Chinese gain admittance to the United States, dwelling particularly upon the practice by a Chinamen of swearing out writs of habes corpus and giving worthless bonds as security. To meet the evil it is suggested that no Chinamen be allowed to become surety for another unless he deposits in a bank, either in money or interest-bearing securities, the amount of the bond.

The report expresses the opinion that if the present law is strictly enforced it will not be long before the Chinese race in the United States will be extinct.

The Chinese quarter in San Fran-The Chinese quarter in San Francisco is spoken of as a pest-breeder which should not be tolerated in any American community. The Chinamen are inveterate gamblers, and their lotteries; the report says, flourish to such an extent that it seems impossible that such a state of affairs could exist with the connivance of the authorities. The Chinaman is described as having his good qualities and being industrious, but the committee is of the opinion that to rescind the Chinese act would result in the whole Pacific Coast being overrun with Chinese with resultant serious labor troubles.

The committee reccommends that the present law be kept in force and vigorously executed.

This proposition means that you have no expense on the Orange Grove except the original purchase price, for three years, or until the orchard comes to bearing.

You have your choice of varieties, Navels, Maita Bloods, St. Michaels, Hart's Tardiffs, Homassasas, Mediterannean Sweet Oranges, or Villa Franca Lemons.

If you want an Orange Grove, it will pay you to see the Orange Grove Tract and see what has been accomplished there in one year, and see the kind of care trees will have if I plant them and care for them.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Los Angel Es, March 4.— To the Editor of THE TIMES. In the issue of THE TIMES of Sunday, March 1, a letter appears bearing the signature of "H." in which the proposed employment of designs for the display of citrus fruit at the coming fair is severely criticised. The writer suggests that the money which these things will cost might better be used for the encouragement of new forms of the citrus industry. He objects to the construction of ships, public buildings, pagodas, proposed to construct such absurdities as he describes in his letter. It is proposed to use a few oranges—not such a quantity as to constitute the serious expense or the lamentable waste that he apprehends—in the ornamentation of the various arches and buildings which two beat constructed, and in of the various arches and buildings which have been constructed, and in one or two instances, notably that of the great arch over the stage, an effort will be made to produce effective results in the massing of the fruit for its color. There will be no such wholesale stuccoing of buildings with solid oranges. As was olesale stuccoing of buildings olesale stuccoing of buildings is was a at the northern fairs—t that we mean to criticise methods used but that we prefer the methods used but that we prefer the compething different. Wherethe methods used to the to have something different. Where ever the fruit is used it will be in connection with flowers and greenery a H. suggests.

he primary object in view in the planning of the design has been appropriate and attractive display of the fruit. Where the form of the design itself does not accomplish this, the fruit will be shown in banks or on tables around the structere. There are some twenty different locality committees at work, made up of people of varying tastes. Ideal results can hardly be expected in every instance; as a rule however, the undertaking when completed will be found well worth the effort.

In what he says about using the money for other purposes, H. is perhaps speaking from some misappreliension. The State appropriates $2500 to be used solely for the powers of the results and the says about using the money for other purposes, H. is perhaps speaking from some misappreliension. The State appropriates $2500 to be used solely for the powers of the content of the co sion. The State appropriates $2500 to be used solely for the paying of premiums. To meet the expenses of the fair—which, reduced to bare necessities, would be several thousand dollars—there is only one source of income: the money paid by the public in admission fees. The question which the management has to ask itself is, just this state of the money paid by the public in admission fees. The question which the management has to ask itself is, just this state of the money paid by the public in admission fees. The question which the management has to ask itself is.

Is the public ready to pay 25 cents a head to the number of 20,000 or 30,000 to see a quantity of oranges spread out on tables? A citrus fair is no new out on tables? A citrus fair is no new thing in Los Angeles. Unless this one has something to offer a little different from what its predecessors have the control of the c shown, the management is likely to have to face a deficit at the end of the chapter.

Does H. know that the great bulk of the orange crop is raised by only 500 men, and that about 2000 men own nearly all the orange trees in Southern California? A fair with attractions for the orange-growers alone might be very praiseworthy as a demonstration of principle, but would be a harrowing failure from a business point of view.

H. offers some suggestions with regard to the displaying of fruit which are decidedly pertinent; and will as far as possible, be observed. We are very glad to have such suggestions offered, and hope for more of them. California? A fair with attractions and hope for more of them. THE MANAGEMENT.

Chief of Bureau of Mines.

The telegraph brings word that the position of Chief of the Bureau of Mines and Mining of the Columbian Exposition has been tendered to F. J. V. Skiff of Colorado. No better selection could have been made. Mr. Skiff is now Commissioner of Immigration for Colorado and one of the Commissioners to the Werid's Fair from that State. Skiff is a reformed journalist. He is a New Englander by birth, but grew up with Kansas, and early in life achieved distinction on the newspaper of Lawrence. Later he moved to Denver and became identified with the Tribune, and for years was its city editor. His keen clear judgment, matchess energy and wonderful recuperative powers were recognized, and in a few years he rose to general manager of the property, then in the hey-dey of its glory, when Ottomar H. Rothacker, Engene Field and Bill Nye were giving the paper a national reputation from a literary standpoint, and lesser lights a character for enterprise as a newspaper, local and general, not equaled since.

Who can gracefully, answer this question.

Who can gracefully answer this question.

We quote question No. 8 verbatim. It contains a hint whereby there is a possibility of establishing a new and important industry in our midst. Here it is: "Are there many dogs in lower California, kennels, etc.? The reason I ask is because my house makes from two hundred and eleven tons of dog cakes per week, and if the prospect were good I could induce them to either start a factory in California or else arrange with some good baking company in Los Angeles." It might pay to import a lot of dogs, if need be, to get a canine cracker factory located here. No. 9 proves the questioner to be a practical man. He says: "Have you good local bakerles where you can procure bread, etc.? I should think with oil stoves it would be impossible to bake bread." Biess your dear heart, come out and we'll show you as good bread as ever your mother baked, and baked over an oil fire too.

The writer then goes on to inquire

The writer then goes on to inquire into all sorts of subjects, such as the profits accruing from fruit culture, price of land and terms at which it can bought, rate of mileage on the railroads, whether or not all the comforts of home are obtainable in Pasadena of the letter, its author evidently means business, and if he comes here, as he doubtless will, Pasadena will likely find in him a rustler, and that is the kind of men she wants as citizens.

It is a pity that Dr. Hale's elecutionary taient is not on a par with his ability as a writer. As an author he is great; as a elecutionist he is a failure, and its fair to say that a majority of those present were disappointed with Dr. Hale's interpretation of the most ramous passages of his universally-addired book. His enunciation was so indistinct that few of those present could hear him, and his style of delivering was monotonous. The Polymnia Quartette rendered selections during the evening, which were well received.

The Bank of England was obliged to send to Paris an agent supplied with an English treasury bond signed by the first lord of the treasury as a guarantee of reimburse

The ingots were delivered in three installments of 25,000,000 each, on three different days, in the court yard of the Bank of France, to the English representative, and from that moment the precious metal was entirely at the lat ter's risk. When the day of payment arrives—three months hence, if no re-newal is asked—the loan must be repaid at the Bank of France, either in in or in pounds sterling, valued at their weight in fine gold.—Paris Cor. Increase in Telegraphic Figures The increase in the ocean cable and telegraph facilities during the dec ade is again indicative of the growth of the city of New York, for the entire sys-tem is tributary to and greatly depend-ent upon the metropolis. In 1830 there were 185,645 miles of cables in existence. In 1890 there were 283,917. The West-ern Union and Postal companies now control 773,997 miles of wires, against a total of 233,534 in 1880. There were 10,077 offices in operation during 1880, but their number has now been increased to 22,382. The total number of messages sent over the wires in 185* was 39,512,904, but the total is now estimated for 1890 at 83,784,827. The receipts for 1880 were $16.827,948. Last year they were $34,783,282. The profits in 1820 were $7,383,379, but during the year 1890 they are estimated at $10,123,239. The expenses for 1880 were $8,496,293, while for last year the estimate is $18,740,609. —New York World.

Last evening at Arab peddler, two women of the same nationality, another Arab and a small boy were taken to the police station by Officer Bevan. The party had got into some sort of a dispute about a gold watch, which one of the women had given to the peddler to sell, but which he had appropriated to his own use. After talking the matter over in half a dozen languages, the matter was settled by the peddler turning over the watch. The case will come up before the justice court today.

Detective McCarthy returned from San Francisco yesterday morning after an absence of two weeks, having been detained by the washouts on the railroads. Mr. McCarthy stated that he had gone north on a business trip, and was very indignant about the rumors circulated about thin in his absence. He says that Los Angeles is his home, and he never had the remotest idea of leaving town, much less "leaving his friends in the lurch," as he does not owe a cent that he cannot pay.

Leonard Monday, George H. Barnes and Alfred Richardson, who are charged with having forged the names of T. G. Mabey and Hugh Williams to a promissory note for $325, made payable to Joseph Walker, were arrested by Constable Clements Tuesday evening. The compiant is sworn to by Walker. The men were brought before Justice Owens late in the evening, and a singular occurrence in regard to the case was the fact that Mabey and Williams, the two men whose names were claimed to be forged, appeared and desired to go on the defendants' bonds, which were placed at $1000 each.

SOCIETY.

The Los Angeles 400 have captured a pretty little joke on the San Francisco "four dozen," and they are not at all backward about circulating it upon all state oc-casions. As the story goes, several weeks ago it was announced that a grand ball was to be given at the Redondo Hotel in honor of the family of George M. Pullman of the of the family of George M. Pullman of the P. C. C. The Northern Citrus Beit "four dozen" consulted their McAllister and after a lengthy pow-wow, they decided it the proper caper to come down here and do honor to the big folks from the Eost. They came down powdered and claw-hammered, fully determined to throw the little Los Angeles 400 in the shade. Their McAllister was with them as big as life, and from the very start the Los Angeles acoiety people were snubbed in the most beautiful style-possible by the great "four dozen" from the north.

were spubbed in the most beautiful stylepossible by the great "four dozen" from the north.

Now the Pullman's are not as blind as some might be led to believe, and it didnot take them many minutes to "tumble" to the brutal treatment to which the Los Angeles people were being subjected. It is not known whether they held a hurried consuitation, but it is very certain that they went over to the Los Angeles 400 with a grand rush, and from that moment the imported four dozen had to take a back seat, and if rumer speaks the truth the Pullman's have been roundly abused since the return of the four dozen delegation to their northern home. The Los Angeles leaders are perfectly happy over their success in the contest, and it is safe to say that the Pullman's will ever in the future receive a warm reception in Southern California.

to have been robbed on the East Side, some days ago, an account of which, with the subsequent developments, was published in The Times, last night called with the following statement, which he asked to have published. The statement tells its own story:

Los Angelles, March 4.—[To the Editor of Time Times,] I wish to confess through your columns to the public the disgrace I have brought upon my relatives and friends as well as upon myself, by stating falsely, that I had been robbed of $300. I manufactured the story and did all the shooting myself. The reason for my doing so was because my folks thought I had money that I never had. I deceived them as well as many others, by stating that I got a much larger saiary than I did get. Several years aco I started to live a life as I believed Christ desired me to live, but I had a desire to put on a great deal more show than my means would allow, but instead of overcoming that desire I cultivated it, and it has been the means of a terrible downfall in my life. I have gambled sometimes when I was sure of winning, when I realized fully my wrong doing, but when I know of no other way to make money.

A great many times in the past few years I have resolved to lead a different life, but I did not give up everything that I knew I doubt to give up and consequently soon went wrong again. I am determined, God being my heiper, from this time on, to lead a commendable instead of a disreputable life before the world. This confession, publicly made, is the only thing that will rid my conscience of its burden and enable me to turn from the error of my ways. I humbly sak the forgiveness of all, and can only expect you to judge my sincerity by my further life. Respectfully,

AN IMPOSTER.

A "Deaf-Mute" Who Suddenly Found

His Speech.
Last night Officer Sanchez found the deafmute, who has annoyed the life almost out of some people by begging during the past few weeks, working his game on the street, and made up his mind to watch the fellow a while. The fellow works on people by displaying letters in which it is stated that he only got out of the hospital a short time ago and is friendless, etc., and when he can't get the victim to go down in his pocket can't get the victim to go down in his pocket he pulls out a wad of paper and goes to writing. After watching him awhite Sanchez became convinced that he is a humbug.

"I guess the jail is the best place for you," said Sauchez, placing his hand on the beg-gar's shoulder. The mute went through all kinds of motions, but not a sound passed his line.

kinds of motions, but not a sound passed his lips.

"Uh, come along," said the officer, "I am tired of this nonsense. A few months in jail will do you good," and he started toward the city prison. He had taken but a few steps when he was thunderstruck to hear the mute say:

"Please let me go this time and I'll get out of towa at once, and never beg on these streets again." His prayer for mercy had no effect, and he was marched up to the captain's window, where he was booked as a "vag," and was locked up.

He can talk as well as any one, and could some some of his victims have heard him they would have been tempted to use a club on him

Found More than They Expected. Sometime ago a few diagruntied Democrats under the leadership of J. Marion Brooks were making loud demand about an investigation of the expenditures made by Chairman Munday of the Democratic City Chairman Munday of the Democratic City Telephone 28.

Dr. Darrin - Who Can Doubt When so Many of Our Citizens Testify?

So much has been said in praise of Drs. Darrin and their new method cure by electric treatment, that it seems useless to add further proof. Still, we had occasion to meet the most of the following-named people, and from their own lips find their cures to be genuine, and that no exaggeration of their cases occur.

In the main, Drs. Darrin use electricity In the main. Drs. Darrin use electricity and animal magnetism, applied or imparted to the diseased members, by manipulations. They do not, however, rely wholly upon this, as they use medicines in special cases. Some people who have not received treatment pronounce them great humbug, while bundreds of others speak of them in terms of the highest praise. What physicians are there of any note or practice against whom there will be no such denunciations? Drs. Darrin do not pretend, nor can they cure everything and everybody that comes; but we know that multitudes have been greatly benefted or pormanently cured by their treatment. The fact that their offices are crowded the greater part of the time, and that so few go away dissatisfied, is pretty good evidence of their success. We would not knowingly puff up a fraud, either as a physician or otherwise, but facts seen with our own eyes cannot be controverted, and as proof of their wonderful skill they su mit the following few

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his actonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold. Indeed, he declares he is soarcely free from one cold before he takes another; and he is always exceedingly changed the cold always seems to settle in the head or throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catul. It is also a matter of surprise to him that the coid always seems to settle in the head or throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appear, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease it is somewhat changed in its obsracter and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is somewhat changed in the obsracter and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is somewhat changed in the obsracter and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is somewhat changed in the obsracter and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is somewhat contained a somewhat course, a sonestion of dryness is sometimes coours, a sonesation of dryness is sometimes occurs, a sonesation of the breath leasens upon a little exertion, a short hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room excough in the chest to breathe; those and other as mptoms occur after the disease and other as mptoms occur after the disease and may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope, that it will "wear off." declare that he has had the catarnt for years and has not seemed to become much worse, and the delicate it is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms as all forms of catarnt end finally in consumption.

The Aerean system of practice is applicable in all deseases of the respiratory organs, but the remedies must be propared for each individual case as it requires.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better calt at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally can write for a list of questions and circular, both of which will be earl free of charge.

Vienna Bakery.

He may live without books—what is knowledge but grieving Schoos this extract from Meredith's charming poem. No man can live without dining, and the nearest way to a man's pocket is through his stomach.

We want to show you that you can live at the VIENNA BAKERY in the bost of style, have your meals served in an appetizing manner, prepared by the best of cooks, served with serupulous cleanliness, and at a. less price than you will pay at hash foundaries," cheap "chop houses," and common restaurants.

Is isn't necessary to spend a dollar for a first-class meal. At the VIENNA you can get anything you want at a mederate price.

If you are an epicure and want terrapin and cysters, quall on toast and champagne you can find it all at a reasonable price. But the majority of people prefer an ordinary meal and we will tell you how cheaply you can live at the finest Dining Parlors in Southern California:

For Breakfast

You can get the finest cup of coffee on the Coast, with a delicious piece of cake for TEN CENTS.

You can get an appetizing plate of hot cakes with the best Vermont maple syrup for TEN CENTS. You can get a plate of catmeal or cornmeal mush with pure fresh cream for TEN CENTS.

You can get a tender, juicy beefsteak, bread and butter, petatoes and coffee for TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Lunches for working men put up very cheap from 5 to 7 a.m.

For Lunch

A nice plate of cold meat with tea, coffee, milk or chocolate for only FIFTREN

A nice entree with coffee, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.
A slice of prime rib roast beef with potatoes, bread, butter and coffee, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

For Dinner

You can order anything you have to the coast, with beer or wine, for Or you can get the finest French dinner on the Coast, with beer or wine, for FIFTY CENTS. We serve these dinners daily from 5 to 8 p.m. The Vienna Bakery Dining Pariors will be under the stewardship of Mr. Edward Clark, who has been three years with the Vienna, and whose care of its patrons has made it so justiy popular.

You can order anything you like on our immense bill of fare at the same reas

The Vienna Bakery Department

Will be under the sole supervision of Mr. Cohen himself, and patrons can rest assured that every attention will be shown them.

The Vienna Bread served over our counters has attained remarkable popularity. It is undoubtedly the leading bread of the city and its standard of excellence will be maintained.

It is true that while other bakeries give 2) and 23 loaves of bread for One Dollar.

The Vienna only gives 13, but the 13 loaves of Vienna bread will weigh more than the 20 loaves of other bread, besides being far superior in quality.

Ourrye bread is universally acknowledged as the very best made on the Coast.

CAKES.

All of our cakes are made with the best butter, frosh eggs, and we never use Oleomargarine or "bull butter," as some bakeries in this city are doing.

It is only necessary to see our assortment of cakes to realize that it is the largest of any estableshment in this city. We make a specialty of Charlotte Russe cakes.

Wedding cakes from the Vienna Bakery are always pronounced exquisite in design and flavor. Our baker, Mr. Wagner, is certainly an artist in his line, and the best ever seen on the Pacific Slope.

Private parties and banquets served in the latest styles, at very reasonable rates and on short not ce.
